

ETH Websites

Web editors using ETH Zurich' web content management system Adobe Experience Manager (AEM) can use the Publications component therein to generate publication lists for individual authors and/or organisational units on their websites.

The publication data displayed is drawn directly from the Research Collection.

Instructions and further information

Topics	Links
AEM: Publications component	https://www.ethz.ch/services/en/service/communication/websites/cq5/cq5-manual/aem-components/special-components/publications.html nethz login required
AEM: Common issues and known bugs	https://www.ethz.ch/services/en/service/communication/websites/cq5/release-planning/common-questions-and-known-bugs.html nethz login required
Which publication types are displayed in AEM?	See the list of Publication Types

Please note that there is a delay of up to 30 hours for new publications or edits to existing publications to show up on your website.