

Author name

Assigning your ORCID iD to a publication will also update your author/contributor name in the item's metadata with the exact spelling used in your ETH person profile.

ETH Library and IT Services are currently working on a new functionality in the ETH person database which will allow you to add author names that differ from your official name.

This feature is expected to be released in the first quarter of 2021.