If you have a user account, you can also mark categories as favorites. To do this, click on the desired category, then on the red menu icon on the right side. There you find the option "Mark as favorite".

The marked category will appear directly below the categories under "Favorite Categories".

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar with the ETH zürich logo, a 'New images' dropdown menu, and a search bar. Below the navigation is the 'e-pics | Image Archive, ETH Library' header. A 'Categories' section contains a search bar and a list of categories: '< All', 'New images', '> Aerial photos', '> Comet reports', '> Slides', and '> Views and postcards'. A red menu icon is next to 'New images', and a dropdown menu is open, showing 'Mark as favorite' and 'Share' options. To the right is a large image of a building at night with signs for 'IMPACTOR' and 'Babolive'. Below the image is the text 'New images' and 'Image information: Comet Pho -003'. At the bottom, 'Favorite Categories' lists 'New York 1959'.

This screenshot shows the same website interface as the previous one, but with the 'Mark as favorite' option highlighted in yellow. The 'Favorite Categories' section is now visible, showing 'New images' and 'New York 1959' listed under it. The rest of the page layout, including the navigation bar, categories list, and the building image, remains the same.
